Schools superintendent Kelleher will step aside

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Dr. Dennis Kelleher appears to be in his last few weeks as superintendent of the Washington Unified School District.

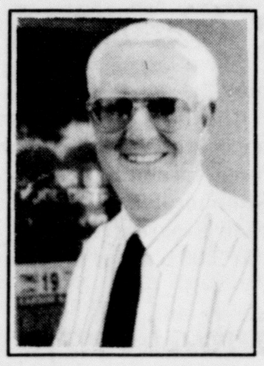
The embattled administrator fought bitterly – and unsuccessfully – for a contract extension as recently as May. But in a July 31 letter, he asked the school board to release him from his duties as district superintendent so he could pursue a stint as a "visiting educator" for the California Department of Education.

With a 5-0 vote in a closed-session meeting Monday, the board agreed. Beginning Sept. 1, Kelleher will serve out the days he has remaining under contract to W.U.S.D. "on leave" to the state. The state will reimburse W.U.S.D. for Kelleher's salary during that time.

Following the closed-door discussion, board president Ardeene Westvik – a staunch supporter of Kelleher – announced the vote and read a list of six amendments the board had negotiated with Kelleher. Included were a requirement that, while Kelleher works for the state, the district won't pay him more than the state reimburses. Also included is a stipulation that, should Kelleher return from the state before his school district retirement date in 2002, he could only return for duty as a classroom teacher and not as superintendent.

Kelleher hasn't returned calls for comment from the News-Ledger in the past three months, including a call placed to him on Monday. He was scheduled to attend W.U.S.D. programs in Sacramento and Lake Tahoe beginning yesterday.

School board members Ed Hocking and Irene Eklund both saw Kelleher's move as positive for the district.



Dr. Dennis Kelleher
W.U.S.D. Superintendent

"I wish Dr. Kelleher success in his next position," said Eklund, who had helped appoint Kelleher to superintendent in 1997 but later turned into a critic of his performance. "We need to start talking about kids, which is something we haven't been talking about in months."

"Dr. Kelleher did the right thing," commented Hocking yesterday. "It relieves the pressure and stress within the district among staff, parents, kids and members of the community. Whatever his motives are, I'm really glad he did it."

Board president Ardeene Westvik and vice president Dave Farmer couldn't immediately be reached for comment.

Eklund said the board would next turn its attention to the prospect of finding an interim superintendent and then a permanent superintendent. She did not know whether it would be the current board, or the one to be elected in November, which would choose the district's next permanent superintendent.

Kelleher's troubles began mounting in April, as he approached a scheduled contract extension. With a current contract taking him mid-way through 2002, and favorable personnel evaluations from board members Farmer, Westvik and Hocking, Kelleher believed he was entitled to a contract extension into 2003.

But a new community group sprung up and challenged the extension. They charged that Kelleher ruled the district in an authoritarian, repressive manner, and was disrespectful to parents. The News-Ledger also reported various instances of school district violations of open meeting laws, and later reported issues surrounding Kelleher's political use of district facilities and his use of public funds to attend a convention for albinos.

Kelleher also filed a controversial criminal complaint against a school district employee he believed had misused her salaried time. This drew the ire of the employee's union.

Westvik and Farmer remained convinced that most of the complaints against Kelleher were false or exaggerated. Several community members agreed.

But part-way through the controversies, Hocking threatened to re-write his favorable evaluation of Kelleher. Kelleher withdrew his request for an extension and began searching for other job opportunities.

Kelleher became W.U.S.D. superintendent in 1997, following a promotion from assistant superintendent.

Night Out Against Crime

Local police helped sponsor a "going away party" for crime last week, promoting block parties and neighborhood watch planning throughout West Sacramento on Tuesday evening, Aug. 1.

"It was the biggest ever," said Penny Miceli of the West Sacramento Police Dept. "We had fifteen sites participating. There had to be 1,500 people or more."

As part of the "National Night Out Against Crime," neighbors were encouraged to lock their doors, leave a porch light on and meet outside with their fellow community members. The goal was to develop contacts that would help form anti-crime watches.

"McGruff the Crime Dog," California Highway Patrol mascot "Chippie," and city parks mascot "Jack Rec" were among the visitors to many of these block party sites.

Man paralyzed, suspect arrested in Andrew St. attack

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A West Sacramento man is without the use of his legs after a shooting last week on Andrew St. Police have arrested another West Sacramento man for attempted murder in connection with the case.

At 3:42 p.m. on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 2, said Lt. Ray Hensley of the West Sacramento Police Department, "officers responded to the report of a subject lying in the street at 637 Andrew St. He had been shot in the back by an unknown subject who had fled the area."

Vincent Angel Garcia, a 27-year old nearby resident, was hospitalized for the single gunshot wound to the back. The shooting left him paralyzed in the lower body.

The victim was uncooperative at first, said Hensley.

"Initially, he told us he didn't know who did it," said Hensley. But after it became obvious how serious Garcia's injuries were, he named a suspect and then picked suspect Daniel Leroy Garber out of a photo lineup. Garber, a 29-year old Reuter Dr. resident, was arrested Friday next door to the scene of the shooting.

Garber was carrying a letter from his attorney instructing police not to interrogate their client, added Hensley.

Police have searched two homes and four vehicles looking for the gun involved, but have not located the .380 caliber handgun.

Hensley said police believe that the pair argued over a child support issue involving a relative of one of the men.

New Yolo Grand Jury appointed

No West Sacramento residents will be among this year's jurors

No West Sacramento residents will be on this year's Yolo County Grand Jury.

The 2000-2001 jury was appointed July 3 by Judge Doris Shockley of the county superior court. The jury includes ten Woodland residents, seven Davis residents, and one member each from Winters and Yolo.

The Grand Jury is charged with promoting honesty and efficiency in government, considering criminal indictments and evaluating complaints submitted by citizens, government officials or government employees.

Complaints must be submitted in writing.

Complaint forms are available at county library branches or by calling (530) 666-8600.

'Center' in dire need of help with rent

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A local drug counseling center faces eviction from its Merkley Ave. storefront unless it can come up with several months of past-due rent, its director reported last week.

The East Yolo Information Center for Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse is staffed by volunteers who sponsor programs for chemically dependent people, parolees and anger-management clients. But the "Center," as it's known, depends on grants and donations for funding – and that well has been running fairly dry, said director Helena Helmold.

She hopes the community will help raise $6,000 to ensure a home for the Center through December.

"If we want to stay through the end of September, we need to come up with $2,500 by Saturday," Helmold said. "If we want to stay through the end of the near, we need to come up with $6,000."

$6,000 is a reachable goal, she feels.

"Everybody says that's a high amount. But if everyone who has been touched by alcohol or drugs would even give a dollar, that money would be there."

A major blow to the Center, said Helmold, was when it lost the $600 per week in funding it received for running a domestic violence program in connection with the Yolo County Probation Dept. The county pulled the program for "personal" reasons involving a conflict between its representative and a Center representative, she claims.

Remaining funding for the Center is "piecemeal."

"We received a subvention grant from the city, which I used to pay rent and phone bills. But that was only $1,500. Phone service normally runs about $200 a month. If we had a steady income of only $800 per month, we'd make it."

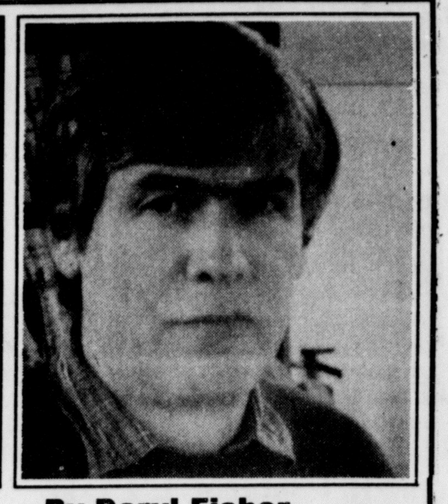
Helmold, who is retired, volunteers as the Center's director. She has a master's degree in psychology.

She reports that the Center serves about 15-20 people a day through its various counseling programs. It has about 20 active long-term clients, and Narcotics Anonymous meetings draw about 45- 50 people.

Anyone interested in helping the Center can call 372-3360, or make a donation to the East Yolo Information Center for Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse, care of Paul Kolaric or Bob Moos at First Northern Bank in West Sacramento.

A final update on 'Li'l Suze,' the crazy dog

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

As some of you may recall, my twenty-something-year-old daughter has spent the past eight or nine months trying to improve the incredibly poor behavior of a little two-year-old black female fox terrier/dachshund mix she adopted from the SPCA.

Among many other things, Li'l Suze has been officially diagnosed by a veterinary psychologist with DSA (doggie separation anxiety), CFS (chronic foraging syndrome) and also what I simply call CDB (crazy dog behavior).

In short, Li'l Suze can't stand for my daughter to be out of her sight, even for a few minutes, and will try to scratch and claw her way out of any place where my daughter isn't. She also never stops looking for food, and that includes clawing open kitchen cabinets and refrigerator doors, jumping up on kitchen counters, knocking over garbage cans and ripping apart their contents, and snatching anything that's edible from your hand or off your plate. She's already been to a veterinarian emergency room once for jumping up on top of a refrigerator and eating more than a pound of chocolate candy which had been wrapped up as a present; she's devoured a whole birthday cake, numerous loafs of bread, and a turkey sandwich I lovingly took ten minutes to make and was preparing to bite into; and she even swiped a couple of Mars candy bars my son had been saving for the just the right moment and then hid them under the blankets of her bed for future consumption.

"But you never get to see the good side of Li'l Suze," my daughter recently tried to explain to me. "She's very lovable and loyal, is always giving me little kisses, and insists on sleeping next to me under my covers. And she's also by far the smartest dog I've ever known. Plus she's stopped having accidents in my apartment, so if you ask me, I think the hard part is behind me."

Sadly, only a few days after that conversation, my daughter, in tears, informed me that her landlord had just told her that if she didn't get rid of Li'l Suze, she was going to be evicted.

"Why?" I asked, wondering what crazy Li'l Suze had been up to this time.

"Well," explained my daughter, "while I was at work today, she didn't just destroy things like she usually does. According to all my neighbors, she also barked for four straight hours. She's never ever done that before, but my landlord said it was so bad almost everyone in the building was mad and I have to either move or get rid of Li'l Suze. What am I going to do? I have a lease and it's the only place I've been able to find close to work."

After days of soul-searching, my daughter very reluctancy agreed to try and find Li'l Suze another home. And to her credit, she did so with the same energy and dedication she had put into trying to unsuccessfully convert Li'l Suze into being a normal dog.

She began by calling just about everyone she had ever known, telling them the truth about Li'l Suze (good and bad) and asking them if they would take her. And when that failed, she immediately headed for the Internet. As offers began to pour in, she set up a complex screening process which finally resulted in three potential candidates, all of whom lived outside the West Sacramento area and agreed to be interviewed.

"What was wrong with that one?" I asked my daughter as soon as she returned from her second unsuccessful interview.

"They were okay, I guess," explained my picky daughter, "but the lady smokes, and I don't want to expose Li'l Suze to a lifetime of second-hand smoke."

"Carrie," I tried to explain to her as gently as I could, "if there's anyone in this world willing to take that crazy dog off your hands, please, let them!"

Fortunately, family number three fared much better. They had two young children for Li'l Suze to grow up with, a huge backyard where she could romp and play, and best of all, a female black lab that immediately thought she was Li'l Suze's mother.

"I've decided to give Li'l Suze to them," said my daughter, tears once again rolling down her cheeks, "but I know I'll never be able to take her out there and drop her off. Would you please do that for me?"

After spending just a few minutes with Li'l Suze's wonderful new family, I bent down and whispered into her ear, "Do you have any idea just how lucky you are?" Apparently not believing a word of it, she turned and raced out to my truck and tried to back get into it. Thankfully, all the doors were locked.

Although they didn't have to, Li'l Suze's new family recently called my daughter to tell her that Li'l Suze was, and I quote, "The perfect little dog we had all been praying for."

Apparently, poor Li'l Suze wasn't crazy after all. She just needed a few things my daughter couldn't give her, like a house with a big yard instead of a tiny apartment, people to take turns interacting with her every single minute of the day, and most important of all, another dog to play, sleep, and converse with. "That's the most important phone call I've ever received," my daughter told me, smiling for the first time in weeks, "because the only thing that makes missing Li'l Suze bearable is knowing that she really is happy now."

Puppet-making & prizes at Turner library

Saturday, August 12 at 3:00 p.m. will be the last Summer Reading Activity for the summer of 2000. A puppet play entitled "Mouse Bride" will be presented. Children attending will make their puppets and present the play.

Children may also take the opportunity to collect prizes they have earned by signing up for Summer Reading and recording their progress.

At 2:00 p.m. on the same afternoon there will be a drawing for the Teen Reading Club. All those who signed up are welcome to attend. There are over 25 prizes that will be given out.

Soroptimists' annual craft faire to come early

From Soroptimist International of West Sacramento

Soroptimist International of West Sacramento members are busy planning for their 24th Annual Holiday Potpourri Crafts Faire & Luncheon. This event has become an annual happening in the West Sacramento community and many look forward to attending each year. Because of scheduling difficulties, the club has chosen to advance the date forward to the first Saturday in October. The October 7th event will be held on the River City High School campus and the site will be open to the public from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Admission to the Holiday Potpourri is free.The West Sacramento Chapter of Soroptimist was charted in 1963 and the members have taken an active interest in working with and for their community. They do many service orientated projects, some of which include: Yolo County's Battered Women's Shelter, the John H. Jones Community Services Clinic, holiday and recreation events for the patients at Somerset Convalescent Hospital, a Christmas party for seniors at the West Sacramento Senior Center and delivery for Meals on Wheels to shut-ins. They work closely with the school district and their adopt a school project; working with students and helping them with their community service projects. They planned and furnished a soft interview room in the new police facility, which gives a victim a place to tell their story in a non-threatening environment. They presented $2,250 to graduating seniors in West Sacramento last year.

The merchandise that vendors offer for sale have been hand crafted and you can find many unique one-of-a-kind items for sale. This year the event will be one month earlier so for the first time vendors will be able to feature Halloween and fall items. It is a great place to choose Christmas gifts and decorations, as well as something for yourself.

Anyone interested in seeking table space for the October 7th event should contact Eva after 3:00 p.m. or Lora at 991-2147; pager #590-0576.

The 49ers may have found a new quarterback in Rick Mirer as the battle for the back up position heats up in Stockton. Jeff Garcia is assured by Coach Mariucci of the starting job but after Mirer's solid performance last Saturday in the Niners 23-20 loss to the Chargers he turned some heads. Sacramento's Gio Carmazzi and Tim Rattay, who are in for a battle for the third QB spot, will get a few more snaps this weekend when the 49ers play Sunday (5:30 p.m.-ch. 10) in Kansas City. It could be a long day for these two rookies. K.C. is not a friendly place to learn the art of quarterbacking!

Good news for Raiders fans. Sunday's pre-season game in Dallas (4 p.m.) will be shown on a Bay Area T.V. station (ch. 36). No blackout! Their new kicker, Sebastian Janikowski, made his pro debut connecting on a 46-yard field but missed an easy 35-yard attempt. The new kicker will be the key to Raiders 2000 season. Janikowski will be under tremendous pressure this season as the Raiders push to make the playoffs.

The Giants (62-48) continue to hold on to their slim lead over the Diamondbacks in the battle to win the West. The Giants have won 16 of their last 19 and 36 of their last 47 home games. The Giants have not lost a home series since June 19th against Seattle. Pac Bell has been good to the Giants pitching staff. The Giants own the best home ERA in the N.L., 3.40.

The A's (61-49) will find out how good they are this week when they open a three game series in the Big Apple against the Yankees. The Yankees claimed off the waiver wire one of the A's former "Bash Brothers", Jose Canseco. It will fun to watch ex-River Cat Barry Zito challenge the Yankees new designated hitter in the house that Ruth built. Zito, 22, is 1-0 with a 2.37 ERA since being promoted to the A's. The A's trail the Mariners by 3 games in the race for the West but are sitting in the top spot as the wild card entry to the playoffs.

The River Cats transaction list has reached 105 for season when the Gatos had to make room for Mario Valdez coming off the disabled list and the arrival Ariel Prieto from the A's. Also, infielder Jose Ortiz was back in the Cats line-up after a short stint with the A's last week. The A's traded for veteran infield Mike Stanley so Ortiz was reassigned to the Cats. The River Cats are hosting the Memphis Redbirds, the Eastern Division leaders in the PCL. Their four game series ends on August 10thand tickets still are available by calling 447-HITS.

See ya next week!

King's Rock & Ready Mix

Note: Below is the latest in a series of News-Ledger profiles of our local advertisers. Enjoy!)

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Brothers Cliff and Russell King were born and raised in Broderick and they're extremely proud of it.

"My parents still live in the same house where we grew up," said Cliff, "and back then, Broderick and West Sacramento were two very different places. If you lived in Broderick, you went to Washington High School, and if you lived in West Sacramento, you went to James Marshall. We were separated by the railroad tracks and it wasn't all that easy to drive back and forth, so over the years we ended up with quite a rivalry, especially in sports."

"And it started pretty early, too," added Russell with a smile. "If the West Sacramento kids wanted to win the Little League All-Star championship, they knew sooner or later they would have to beat the All-Stars from Washington Little League, and vice versa. And when high school started, we usually played each other twice a year in all the sports, and those games were the ones everybody really looked forward to. But looking back on it, although sometimes we'd end up throwing a couple of punches at each other, we were all actually pretty much in the same boat, because whether you were from Broderick or West Sacramento, most everyone on the Sacramento side of the river didn't want to have much to do with any of us."

Russell graduated from Washington High in 1969 and Cliff followed two years later.

"We've both had a number of different jobs over the years," explained Cliff, "but what we know best is the rock and ready mix business and when we recently got the opportunity to do this for ourselves, we decided to go for it. The West Sacramento area really needs the kind of services we can provide, especially with all the new homes being built, and judging from how things have gone so far, we think we're going to have a very successful business on our hands."

The president of King's Rock and Ready Mix is Cliff's wife of 26 years, Robbi.

"We have real good access to all the materials we need," explained Robbi, "and we can provide them for reasonable prices. There's nothing about this business that Cliff and Russell don't know and they're also very good with the customers and will do anything and everything they can to help people out."

"Pouring and finishing concrete can be a little tricky," said Cliff. "You can either work it, or it can work you, and we're more than happy to give advice or help."

"In addition to our ready mix concrete," said Russell, "we have all kinds of different colored decorative rock, small, large and shredded landscaping bark, sand, blended topsoil, three different sizes of stepping stones, you name it. And best of all, people who live in this area won't have to drive 20 miles or more to get these kinds of materials like they have in the past. We've got 15 bins now, and we plan on increasing that to 20 in the near future, so we have plenty to chose from. Plus we've got a great supplier, and if you need something we don't have on hand, we'll be happy to order it for you."

ROBBI, CLIFF, CLIFF Jr., and RUSSELL KING

'A family business is still the best kind of business, and whether you live in Broderick, West Sacramento, or Southport, we hope everyone who needs landscaping materials will drop by King's Rock and Ready Mix and let us do everything we can to help them out.'
-- RUSSELL KING

"With contractor and labor costs so high nowadays," said Cliff, "a family can save an awful lot of money by doing most of their own landscaping, whether it's for a new or an old home."

"We've lived here all our lives," said Russell, "and we really like the idea of being able to provide a service that West Sacramento really needs. People we've known or grown up with are coming in all the time, and it's really a great feeling to be able to help them."

"We want to be able to leave this business to our children someday," said Cliff, "so we're going to do everything we possibly can to make it something they and the whole town can be proud of. We're not afraid of working hard and putting in long hours and we know that is what it's going to take."

"A family business is still the best kind of business," said Russell, "and whether you live in Broderick, West Sacramento, or Southport, we hope everyone who needs landscaping materials will drop by King's Rock and Ready Mix and let us do everything we can to help them out."

King's Rock and Ready Mix is located at 1313 Jefferson Boulevard, across the street from Whitey's Jolly Kone. It is open Monday through Saturday from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and on Sunday from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Russell and Cliff can also be reached during business hours at 371-6280.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

The Loyal Opposition

Grace Ohlson, who died two weeks ago, was in the News-Ledger's office hundreds of times since this newspaper was founded over three decades ago. It is doubtful, though, that she ever once took a seat while she was here. The current editor last offered her a chair in the early '90s.

Instead of sitting, Grace darted back and forth on her feet as she tried to get the newspaper's staff to understand her point of view – the "correct" point of view – on whatever "fresh crisis" in West Sacramento was concerning her at the moment. Conversation with her sometimes resembled a racquetball game this way.

And both her speech and writing skills were the same – bouncing and weaving, dipping from one subject to the next and then back again as she labored to make a point. Many were the letters that arrived here, laboriously typed but difficult to follow, with arrows and deletion marks urging the reader to follow her logic along different paths and around various obstacles within her own page.

At the bottom of each typed letter would be the handwritten code "VTY GKO." Although experience showed that this stood for "Very Truly Yours, Grace K. Ohlson," never once was it necessary to get that far on the page to know that Grace was the author of one of these missives. They were unmistakable at first glance.

However hard to understand at times, Grace had one of the keenest minds in town. Her listener, if patient and worthy, was always rewarded. Grace had a valuable eye for how local government should work, and however unpopular were some of her views, she always had a good point to make. Always, there was a kernel of insight worth our time. And although they'd seldom admit it, many were the times that local school board or city council members would ignore her advice and later wish they'd taken it.

Because her concerns often took her counter to prevailing wisdom, or slowed down "progress," Grace attracted both critics and enemies. Some of those in the "enemy" category attacked her with great vitriol. They probably never even realized that Grace had made a conscious, quiet choice not to fight back on the same level; she ignored their spears and stuck to the issues. With Grace, it was never personal. With Grace, it was always about what was best for the community.

West Sacramento had better start looking for a replacement for Grace K. Ohlson soon, because it will be a long time before this community finds one.

Onward and upward.

Scholarship fund drive continues –

In the first week of a drive to fund the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund, nearly 30 people have contributed checks for a total of about $2,100. The goal is to create a $10,000 endowment to fund a perpetual $500 scholarship in Grace's name. The scholarship would serve local students who are going on to attend Sacramento City College or other colleges in the Los Rios Community College District. These students are underserved by current scholarships available to local graduates.

Grace Ohlson was a Los Rios district trustee, and believed deeply in both the local school district and the community college system.

Anyone interested in contributing to the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund may do so care of the News-Ledger, P.O. Box 463, West Sacramento, CA 95691. For information, call Daryl Fisher at 371-8030.

Letters to the Editor

Who controls the developers?

I have lived in Southport for 28 years.

When the new housing development started, I went to the city council meetings to find out what was going on. At these meetings it was stated that the developers would build five ranch-style houses on Linden Road between Redwood and Alder. Now that construction has started I find that not only are there eight houses but they are putting an eight foot wall right in our front window. I have inquired with the city council and the mayor with no response.

How did we get from keeping the community semi-intact to an eight-foot wall in front of our windows? Were changes made that no one knew about, or is this city incapable of controlling the contractors?

Water quality agreement

Citizens For Responsible Mining (CFRM), a Yolo County grassroots watchdog group, has announced the dismissal of its lawsuit regarding in-channel projects in Cache Creek. Yolo County has agreed to implement rigorous water quality monitoring guidelines that analyze the potential impacts of mercury and other contaminants by these projects as the final element of a legal settlement it had agreed to in principal.

The group's attorney, Jo Lynn Lambert, called the level of review for water quality impacts of these projects "the first-of-its-kind" and added, "This lawsuit and its favorable resolution serve to remind the public agencies involved that regular citizens really do care about the impacts on their water resources. This agreement establishes a water-quality monitoring program and project review procedure that can serve as a model for similar decisions on other California waterways."

CFRM is pleased that these strong requirements are in place and will continue to work with the Yolo County (aggregate) Technical Advisory Committee to monitor their implementation.

No compassion

The Republican Convention became one big TV show in 2000 with no substance or issues to debate the future of America or California.

The Puerto Rican voter heard a lot of hypocracy and contradictions by the speakers. The bottom line is don't buy it! I speak English!

Lets start with Republican Latino Abel Maldonado who addressed the convention in Spanish telling the Latino audience of America, that the Republican Party represents the symbol of opportunity in 2000.

How easy Maldonado found no reason to explain Prop. 187, Prop. 209, and Prop. 227 to the same Latino audience on TV.

If my memory serves me right, the last Republican governor, Pete Wilson, left California with a dismal record on education!

It took a Democratic governor in 1999 to rescue the education system from the California Republicans!

Suddenly in 2000, the Republicans have a new ploy to get the Latino vote by preaching a theme of compassion and leaving no one behind in America. But lets not forget what the California Republicans stood for when they used Prop. 187 as their election platform issue against the helpless Latinos of this state. The Republican ploy became successful for Governor Pete Wilson who showed no compassion for minority groups and their children then.

Why should any Latino voter believe in George W. Bush in 2000? The California Republican Party showed "no compassion" by leaving the Latino children behind in education!

Don't forget pets

As fires rage out of control, People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) is asking people to please remember their four-legged friends.

During past natural disasters, PETA's emergency rescue team has witnessed sights ranging from a family who refused to evacuate if their animals were not allowed to come along to dogs left chained in their backyards to farmers simply abandoning pigs, chickens and other animals they raise for slaughter.

Please take a few minutes now to plan how to save your animals in the event of a fire or other natural disaster. Disasters hurt animals, too. Please lend them a helping hand.

Police log

Aug. 4, 12:07 p.m.
A 43-year old homeless man was arrested for assaulting a hotel office manager, hitting her in the face and trying to choke her. He also punched a hole in the office wall. The victim placed him under a citizen's arrest. The man was treated for his injured punching hand and jailed.

Aug. 4, 9:07 p.m.
An officer saw a pickup traveling on West Capitol Ave. at night with no lights. The vehicle was forced to stop, and police dispatch informed the officer that the pickup had been reported stolen. The driver, a 25-year old West Sacramento man, was then arrested. An inventory search of the vehicle turned up a glass narcotics pipe and baggies with nearly 30 grams of amphetamine.

Aug. 5, 9:30 p.m.
An officer pulled over a vehicle with expired registration tags on William St. The 32-year old passenger consented to a search, and a double-edged knife was found in the man's pocket. He was arrested.

Aug. 6, 2 p.m.
A West Capitol woman reported that unknown suspects had used her credit card to ring up over $200 in fraudulent charges.

Aug. 6, 6 :15 p.m.
An officer saw a 42-year old man on bicycle fail to stop at an intersection at 4th and C streets. A warrant check revealed two misdemeanor warrants outstanding on the man. The officer also found a small amount of marijuana in the man's possession. The man was cited and given a notice to appear in court.

Aug. 6, 10 p.m.
Police responded to a domestic dispute. A 4th St. woman said her 36-year old husband had grabbed her by the neck and pushed her to the ground; an officer observed red marks on her neck. The man said he had pushed her out of the house because she came home late. He was arrested.

Aug. 6, 10:30 p.m.
An officer saw a 33-year old West Sacramento speeding in her vehicle on West Capitol near Harbor, and having difficulty keeping the car on the proper side of the road. Pulling her over, the officer found the woman had two children, age seven and ten, in the vehicle. The woman smelled of alcohol and was unable to complete a field sobriety test. She also had an outstanding felony warrant. She was arrested.

Aug. 6, 10:42 p.m.
An officer standing in the parking lot of a West Capitol nightclub saw a vehicle "peel out" and speed through the crowded lot. The vehicle was pulled over, and the driver showed symptoms of being under the influence. The 25-year old Sacramento man was booked.

Aug. 7, 6 a.m.
On Westacre Rd., a car was reported stolen.

Aug. 7, 7:40 a.m.
On Fernwood, a pickup truck was found abandoned. It was later determined to have been reported stolen.

Aug. 7, 11:30 p.m.
An officer was dispatched to the UC Davis Medical Center regarding a West Sacramento child with burns to its groin area. The mother reported that she had left the child in the care of a 15-year old. A report was forwarded to Child Protective Services, which took custody of the child.

If you'd like to learn how to compost your yard waste, the City of West Sacramento's recycling division can provide you with a correspondence course. Upon completion of the course and a short quiz, you'll receive a free compost bin and guidebook delivered to your home. Call 373-5893. Also, you may drop off your "green" waste at Tower Court (near the east end of West Capitol Ave.) on Aug. 12 or Sept. 9. Tree prunings, bushes, grass, dirt, wood and leaves will be accepted between 9 a.m. and noon.

Serving the elderly

Volunteers can help promote dignity and respect for residents of long-term care residents, and assist in investigations of elder abuse. Ombudsman Services of Northern California will provide volunteer certification for those wishing to be an Ombudsman beginning Sept. 6. Call Michele at 376-8910.

Rodeo/destruction derby

Reserve seats for the Western Rodeo and the Demolition Derby are on sale to the public between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Yolo Co. Fair office in Woodland. The rodeo will be held Aug. 17-18 and demolition derby will be held Aug. 19-20. Call (530) 662-5393 for prices and information.

Celebrating 150

For the past three years, the Yolo County 150 Committee has been promoting and publicizing events in Yolo County that celebrate our region's heritage. This effort is part of the statewide observance of California's Sesquicentennial. The three-year-long program focuses attention on significant events that happened 150 years ago in California: the discovery of gold in 1848, the Gold Rush of 1849, and California's admission to the Union in 1850.

Here are some of the events that celebrate Yolo County's traditions during the month of August:

"A Community of Diversity." West Sacramento Historical Society's exhibit of historical photographs of Bryte. At La Bou restaurant, 849 Jefferson Blvd. 8-3 p.m. Free.

"Children of Yolo County, 1850-1930. An exhibit of historical clothing and toys. Yolo County Historical Museum, 512 Gibson Rd., Woodland. Sat. & Sun., noon to 4 p.m. $2.

Exhibit of Antique Farm Equipment and Commercial Trucks. Heidrick Agricultural History Center, 1962 Hays Lane, Woodland. M-F, 10-5; Sat. 10-6; Sun. 10-4. $6 adults, $5 seniors, $4 students.

August 14: Concert by American Legion Post 61 Concert Band. West Sacramento Riverwalk. Free. For information, 373-5843.

August 16-20: 59th Annual Yolo County Fair. Sugar Queen Contest, Rodeo, Demolition Derby, exhibits, vendors and entertainment. Noon-midnight. Yolo County Fairgrounds, East St, Woodland. Free.

August 23: Concert by U.S. Air Force of the Golden West from Travis Air Force Base. West Sacramento Riverwalk. Free. For information, call 373-5843.

Watercolors from Delores O'Neil will be on display at West Sacramento's library through month of September

Watercolor paintings from the brushes of Delores O'Neil Meldrum will be on exhibit at West Sacramento's Arthur F. Turner from now until the end of September.

Meldrum maintains a studio in Cameron Park and is a native of California. Her paintings reflect her travels abroad and of Mexico and the United States. She earned her BA degree at San Jose State College and her MFA at the University of Georgia. Her work celebrates the rich and diverse landscape and culture of America, the quiet beauty of the countryside and recollections of everyday home life.

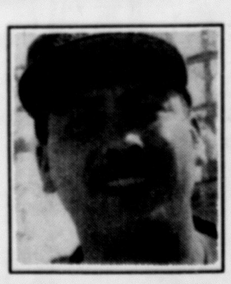
Chavez participates in huge multi-national maritime exercise

The largest maritime exercise in the world, Rim of the Pacific (RIMPAC) 2000, ended recently as the ships of seven nations steamed out of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

For five weeks, the armed forces of Australia, Canada, Chile, Japan, South Korea, the United Kingdom and the United States participated, dealing with a number of high-technology scenarios that simulated real-time naval battles.

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Gerald V. Chavez Jr., the 31-year-old son of Gerald and Jessie Chavez of West Sacramento, is a hull maintenance technician on board the salvage ship USS Salvor (ARS 52), home ported in Pearl Harbor, and he realizes the importance of multinational exercises like RIMPAC.



Petty Officer 2nd Class Gerald V. Chavez, Jr.

"Exercises like RIMPAC keeps everyone battle ready and in sync," said Chavez, a 1987 graduate of River City High School and a 12-year Navy veteran.
